

Indoor cats are fast - and they don't slow down!

Only 7% of cats in the study spend more than 17.5 hours per day indoors. Cats who spend more than 17.5 hours a day indoors tend to be among the faster cats, having higher average ground speed compared to cats who spend less time indoors! Age seems to have minimal impact on speed.

