Proctors in an ageing population per thousand people, rescaled by the percentage of the population aged over 70, revealing which countries* may be more likely to struggle in providing care for an elderly population.

using most recent available data for each country.

Data: Our World in Data | Graphic: N. Rennie